In an ideal society, everyone is equal.

It is better to be ignorant and happy than to be aware and upset.

The government knows what is best for us.

Rules exist to help us live our lives properly.

Too much intelligence can threaten our society.

You shouldn't have to be around people that you don't agree with.

It is alright to upset some people as long as you're doing what is best for society.

If you know you are right, you shouldn't listen to anyone else.

At our current rate of consumption, we will run out of oil and gas.

Nuclear technology and nuclear develop are a threat to our world.

It is good that society has certain ideals for beauty and appearance.

We should feel threatened by how the government and business can spy on us.

Technology is advancing too rapidly.

In the near future, humanity is going to need to find a new planet to inhabit.
